Seattle Southside welcomes visitors

Visitors to the Emerald City have a new guide to exploring Seattle Southside's hidden treasures and stand-out attractions. Seattle Southside's specific travel itineraries are available online at www.SeattleSouthside.com or customized itineraries can be arranged at the Seattle Southside Visitor Center.

Featuring visitor favorites like The Museum of Flight, the west coast's largest aviation museum, the Southside travel itineraries also feature lesser known but acclaimed attractions like the Hydroplane and Raceboat Museum, dedicated to the history of race boats. Cultural attractions like the Great Wall Mall, a unique Asian shopping experience, makes the cut – as does Kent's Historic Downtown shopping district where quaint streets and small shops flourish.

Also experience breath-taking views of the Pacific Ocean, the Olympic Mountains and Islands can be seen from beach vantage points.

Or visit the Highline SeaTac Botanical Garden and the Green-Duwamish River Trail.

In addition to Southside itineraries, regional trips are also available such as Downtown Seattle, Mt. Rainier, Victoria, British Columbia, Mt. St. Helens. Seattle Southside makes an excellent base camp for exploring the entire Western Washington territory.

Seattle Southside Visitor Services serves as the Office of Tourism for the cities of Tukwila, SeaTac, Kent and Des Moines. Seattle Southside is just 15 minutes south of Downtown Seattle and minutes from the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport.

This group of veterans educates others about World War II and airplane history. They meet at the Museum of Flight, the west coast's largest aviation museum.

The Hydroplane and Raceboat Museum, the only one in the US devoted to the history of raceboats, provides tours found fascinating by all ages.
